Land Acknowledgement

YSM believes it is our responsibility to give thanks and respect to our Creator, and to those who first lived on this land we are on. We give thanks to the Anishinabek, the Huron-Wendat, the Haudenosaunee and Ojibway/Chippewa peoples; the Métis, and the Mississaugas of the Credit, the first people of this land.

We commit to demonstrating an acknowledgement of this truth through our ongoing work to bring inclusive prosperity and full participation in society for all peoples in Toronto. We commit to seeking this in all we do, with thankful and respectful hearts.

Working in Partnership to Create Lasting Change

We likely all agree YSM's 20-year goal to end chronic poverty in Toronto is both bold and ambitious. When, in 2016, we set out on this journey, we knew it wouldn't be easy, but also knew it was the only organizational goal worth striving toward.

Today we continue to operate with a belief that our day-to-day work must do more than simply make lives better in the short term. Instead, we think of our community members' futures and work to dismantle the many barriers which keep neighbours trapped in the cycle of poverty.

Over the years, both of us have had the thrill of visiting Antoni Gaudi's majestic Sagrada Familia Basilica in Barcelona, Spain. A renowned architect, Gaudi took over as the chief architect in 1883, dedicating his life to its construction. Today, visitors leave inspired by the sheer magnitude of the structure and its every detail. After learning of the church's history, people are often struck by the realization that Sagrada Familia is still under construction, after 141 years! Gaudi was committed to the vision knowing that others would be needed, at that time and in the future, to realize its completion.

Similarly, at YSM we know our vision of a city without chronic poverty requires others working alongside us both now and for the 13 years remaining on our timeline, for it to be achieved.

As we continue our work, we welcome partners to the table, those who share our vision and their resources, skills and experiences to help move us ever closer to the kind of city we all believe is possible.

As you read this Annual Report informing our donors, volunteers and partners on milestones achieved from October 1, 2021 to September 30, 2022, you will learn of many valued partners who support us in diverse ways as we work toward the day when our neighbours, previously trapped in poverty, are living with dignity and the resources they need to thrive.

The construction of the Sagrada Familia has always relied on private donations, just as we do at YSM. No matter how bold or ambitious our goal, our supporters have consistently provided the resources and inspiration we need to stay our course, and steadily progress. Much work remains, but our partners and all who share our resolve to end chronic poverty in this generation will continue to motivate us and propel us forward.

Thank you for playing your part, we wouldn't be here without you.

Strategic Focus: Our Plan to End Chronic Poverty in One Generation

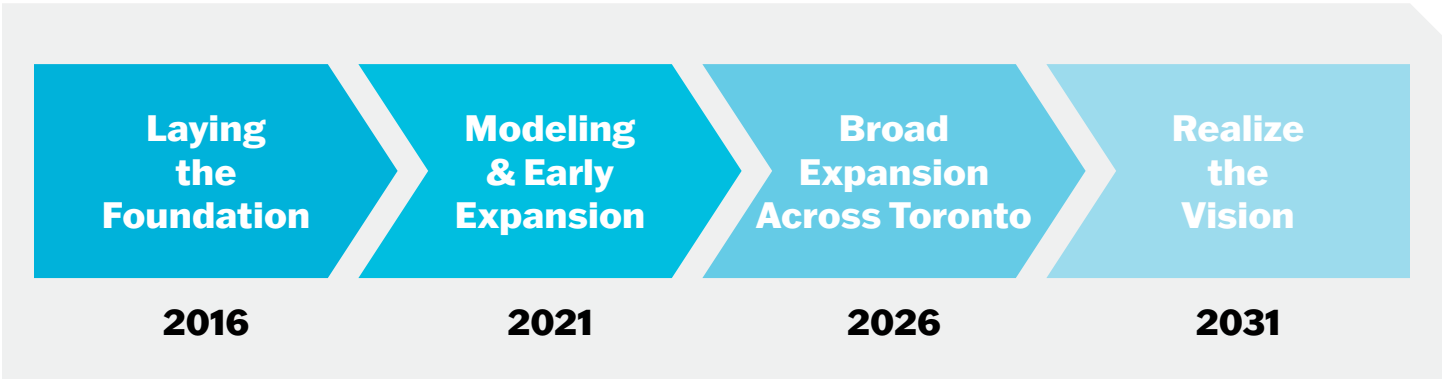

When we launched our vision in 2016 our strategic plan was organized into four five-year sections. In our first five years (2016 - 2020) we defined the three populations to be served by YSM. We restructured our programming so as to best benefit each group and established and applied our RISE model of care across all of our program areas. We developed and implemented TIMES™ our 'transformational integrated measurement and evaluation system' and formed strategic partnerships which have prepared us for the second five-year phase of our 20-year strategic plan and enabled the outcomes of this past year.

Ontario-based charity that creates affordable housing communities, and ReACT, a Windsor, Ontario-based organization serving the homeless. Those organizations joined us in a shared model of progress and now use TIMES™ to advance their understanding of how best to work toward eradicating long-term poverty in Ontario.

These key developments were made possible by a generous federal government Future Skills Canada grant awarded as a strategic investment to help organizations like ours build their operational capacity, as a means to 'come back stronger' after the COVID-19 pandemic.

Measuring Our Success Through TIMES™

During the first five-year phase of our strategic planning process, we first established and then applied our pivotal TIMES™ program measurement and evaluation tool to our Evergreen, Cornerstone, Bridges and Community Development operations to monitor the impact our programs were having in relation to community members moving out of chronic poverty toward stability.

Among the 18 core areas assessed and rated in TIMES™ we identified four which are particularly key to success: Relationships, Self-Awareness, Sense of Power, and Values.

Effectively, they constitute YSM's 'secret sauce' and, when made a focus through programs and support, catalyze progress to create notable moves forward toward financial stability and improved wellbeing.

When first designing and then testing TIMES™ at YSM, our intention was always to create a shareable resource that would move us forward in our goal to end chronic poverty in Toronto, working in partnership with others.

This year an internal working group has led the process to complete the evolution of TIMES™ from the proprietary database developed in-house back in 2016, to a customized customer relationship management platform, Salesforce.

By upscaling our TIMES™ capabilities through the move to Salesforce, we were able to recruit our first two external partners: Indwell, a Hamilton,

“With the different programs, I was able to view different aspects of my life needing improvement and with (YSM’s) supportive team members I was able to grow, develop and reach my full potential.”

Measuring our Success Through Partnerships

Highlighted key YSM 2022 partnerships

Our Cornerstone Family Services has strengthened its partnership with CAS-T – Children’s Aid Society of Toronto – which started as a pilot project in 2018 to address the disproportionate number of Black and bi-racial children being taken into foster care. As, over the past year, our Cornerstone team continued to provide prevention and restorative services to keep families together, we were able to expand our CAS-T partnership to include supervised access visits for custodial parents and their children - a key step in the process of reuniting children who have been separated from their families.

Within our Mental Health and Counselling programming, we work closely with two significant partner networks on service delivery, to provide advanced support to our community members. One of these is The Mental Health and Addiction Collaborative Network, which is composed of professionals in various areas of expertise, including psychiatry, addiction services, our legal system, and collaborative psycho-education. We also work with the Toronto Walk-in Clinic Network which works collectively toward expanding low-barrier mental health counselling services for families and adults.

YSM’s HOPE – Helping Offenders on Probation Excel – Program
Designed to reduce recidivism rates and change the trajectory of criminally involved youth, this program has become a fundamental part of the wrap-around care offered at our Evergreen Centre for Street-Involved Youth. The many aspects of the program include investing in the emotional, physical, and overall wellbeing of young people who have been charged, who are on parole or probation, and move them toward stability. More than anything, such street-involved youth need to be given a chance.

Our Workforce Development Program supports people who are ready for employment to find supportive paid placements to propel them forward in their career path. Key components of this work are done in partnership with Prince’s Trust Canada. Together, we deliver the RAMP - Retention Achieved through Maximized Partnerships – which targets at-risk youth, young neighbours with disabilities, and racialized youth, to ensure employment retention and career advancement through a supportive program and environment. Prince’s Trust Canada works alongside participants and prospective employers who are willing to offer participating youth meaningful employment opportunities likely to lead to sustainable employment through the ongoing coaching support provided by YSM.

YSM Food Bank
Collaboration is key when it comes to addressing complex social issues like food insecurity. By working together under one umbrella organization, food banks in Toronto share resources, coordinate efforts, and avoid service duplications. However, it’s important to have local leadership running the food banks, as they have a better understanding of the needs and challenges of their community. Daily Bread Food Bank is one of our vital partners and, by leveraging their expertise and resources, we have been able to provide an increased quantity and improved quality of nutritious healthy food to those we serve. In 2021-22 YSM received 496,247 pounds of food from Daily Bread.

Our RISE Model at Work

YSM's RISE model of care is a pivotal part of how we serve neighbours experiencing poverty. Through RISE, YSM is able to meet individuals where they are, by providing immediate relief services as an entry point to our more comprehensive supportive programs and services. We offer community members the support they need, when they need it, to access at their own pace, helping them to move toward a more stable and sustainable future. We care for each individual who comes to YSM, by journeying alongside them as they set and realize goals toward changing their lives and moving from merely surviving to thriving.

Robert was just one of many community members who benefitted from our RISE model of care. He learned about YSM and called us immediately. As Robert explained, "I called immediately and I'm certainly engaged in conversations about things that are hard to define with people who know how to get me to frame things better. The work is really for me to get better, right? I'm the only one who can do that work."

YSM helped Robert find a housing program and offered appointments at our Food Bank every two weeks.

"I expected a food bank to be a place where they throw a bunch of pasta, endless carbs and nothing else, but at Thanksgiving, YSM gave me a whole frozen turkey," said Robert. "They have you come in, wait your turn and give you a number. Someone approaches you with kindness and grace that I would never associate with what I thought of as a food bank. Then they walk you down the aisles like you're in a grocery store and you take two of these, three of those, and at the end, it's all smiles. Everyone is just full of kindness. I'm not used to that, really."

As Robert dealt with mental health challenges, he was able to enroll in available Bridges' classes and workshops.

"It's endless! Everything I know I needed has been met. Even the things I didn't know I needed have been met, so I can't praise the place enough."

Robert
YSM Community Member

He took a class on understanding trauma, the Toastmasters speaking program, and even took advantage of our Computer Literacy Centre, Bridges' drop-in haircuts and our Double Take thrift store.

Robert is extremely grateful for everything YSM has done – and will continue to do – for him:

"I think about 90 per cent of the beneficial help I've ever received has come from YSM and I'm stunned by that on several levels," explained Robert. "They've got a staff of psychotherapists here, and it's unbelievable they let you access whatever you need. I am so profoundly grateful, which is why I want to do things to help."

YSM staff were inspired by the focus, resilience and hard work Robert was able to apply in his efforts to heal and grow, as he set and met goals for his future.

The RISE Model

Respond

YSM provides no-cost, low barrier access to urgent support services, including meals, our Food Bank, warm clothing, hygiene kits, mental health interventions and housing supports, all in a welcoming and inclusive environment.

Invite

Aimed at gently introducing individuals to engage more deeply in our programs and services through relationship and trust building, including: anger management, support groups, financial literacy training and goal setting courses.

Support

When ready, wrap-around care management is available for individuals and families longing to overcome the barriers keeping them in crisis, through individualized goal setting, creating a learning plan, introduction to a mentor, specific 'hard skills' training to advance employment readiness, and more.

Engage

Once stabilized, we invite community members to step into their local areas of influence by entering the workforce, securing stable housing, volunteering in the community, becoming community influencers, leaders and mentors for others who are still struggling.

YSM Services – Facing a Perfect Storm

YSM was busier than ever in 2022, thanks to a perfect storm of higher food prices due to inflation, rising mental health issues post pandemic isolation, and increased economic uncertainty impacting unemployment rates. In such a challenging climate, our wide-ranging services have been extremely beneficial to our community members, comprised of street-involved youth, families in need and adults experiencing chronic poverty.

Food Bank

In keeping with our commitment to addressing the challenges faced by struggling neighbours and families in need, we offer bi-monthly access to our Food Bank to Toronto downtown East neighbours, for them to receive fresh and non-perishable groceries.

Mental Health and Counselling Services

For years, YSM has provided free, ongoing counselling to members of our community thanks to the generosity of donors like the Patrick and Barbara Keenan Foundation. Over the last five years, we have offered walk-in, short-term counselling for individuals, couples and families dealing with mental health challenges such as anxiety, depression, social isolation, trauma, relationship conflict, grief, and addiction.

Between 2019 and 2021, the number of individuals served by YSM’s counsellors more than doubled, with YSM delivering over 2,000 therapeutic interventions. The volume continued to increase between 2021 and 2022, largely as a result of the continuing impact of the pandemic. We know marginalized individuals and those living in chronic poverty experience a disproportionate number of traumatic events in their lives, including negative incidents within social services.

YSM’s Mental Health and Counselling Services help create a pathway for traumatized individuals to heal and, in many cases, to bolster their ability to meaningfully participate in other supportive programs available at YSM, such as employment and housing services, among many others, in order to overcome the barriers that contributed to their experience of poverty and even homelessness.

YSM continues to offer employment services for both youth and adults, from information and training, to workshops and paid development programs.

Thanks to the valuable partnership of many organizations and grantors, we have been able to work on evolving effective pathways to realizing meaningful income for many among the three populations we serve.

We are grateful for the engagement levels of the employers with which we partner Paragon Security, Elite Concierge, FRESH Restaurants and VHA Home Healthcare who work to evolve training and employment programs which contribute to increasing stability and financial independence for community members.

The Power of Community

We all have something to contribute: time, financial support - whether one-time gifts, or by giving regularly; some gather friends to collect needed goods, or to fundraise for a cause important to them.

At YSM we invite the community, to join us in our efforts to change the lives of neighbours in need for the better. We are fortunate to see community in action every day, including through the events and initiatives outlined below and through many other gatherings.

Back into the Cold - Coldest Night of the Year 2022

After an all virtual walk in 2021, YSM was thrilled to welcome walkers, sponsors and volunteers back on site to YSM's Martin Centre on Gerrard St. E. for our Coldest Night of the Year hybrid event on February 26, 2022.

Thank you to our 2022 CNOY sponsors Cabbagetown BIA, Colorphil Branding & Packaging, Downtown Yonge BIA and our meal sponsor Chick-fil-A for their kind support.

An extra special mention is due for a notably avid and supportive 2022 walker, Ross Durant, a nonagenarian who fundraised so successfully he raised the fourth highest total of all CNOY walkers across Canada!

We thank all who made Coldest Night of the Year 2022 such an amazingly successful event!

Strong Christmas Spirit at our Toy Market

Our 2021 Toy Market ran between December 13 to 17, and was a wonderful success, providing toys and gifts to families in need.

The many joys our Toy Market provided to Regent Park and area families wouldn't have been possible without the support of many donors and volunteers, as well as six special organizations who undertook toy drives on our behalf: By the Lake Dental - Highland Creek, Freshmen Clothing, KK Boutique, SimCorp, Toys R Us Dufferin Mall and York Memorial Collegiate Institute's Key Club.

Compassion Brought to Life by Church Partners

We are filled with heartfelt gratitude for the generosity and compassionate support provided by so many GTA churches who give in many ways, including financial support, donations of needed products and goods, and hands-on volunteer help.

Our church partners' unwavering commitment to making a positive difference in the world is truly inspiring. We feel honoured each time one of them finds a creative way to advance our work - like producing care packages or hygiene kits for our community members, organizing toy drives in support of our Toy Market, providing food and donations to help neighbours in need celebrate special holidays like Thanksgiving or Christmas, just to name a few.

The Solution to Poverty is Community

Building communities is crucial to our poverty reduction strategy. YSM staff have been a steady and reliable presence in Regent Park, supporting the many community member-led initiatives aimed at revitalizing the neighbourhood.

This past year, a heightened level of support has been given to the Women's Development Network (WDN) - a group of women working together since 2016 to improve their lives through entrepreneurship.

Women's Development Network

- 7 Community-led Collectives
- 42 Women Collaborating in Developing Social Enterprise Opportunities

Another vital aspect of our work in the community is to walk alongside residents as they respond to the day-to-day challenges of their neighbourhood - things like safety, access to services, and system navigation, to name a few. YSM's Capacity Builders work to cultivate neighbourhood residents' ability to lead the changes they identify and the solutions they seek.

Volunteer Impact

Beyond Measure

The impact of volunteering at YSM cannot be overstated. Every day volunteers contribute their time and energy to supporting us in making a difference for neighbours in need. They are critically important and deeply valued partners in our work: in 2022, a total of 33,977 hours were contributed by 1,007 volunteers, accruing an estimated annual value of $985,329!

Giving back is not limited to financial gifts. While, of course, we appreciate financial donations of any amount, we also appreciate the skills, expertise and perspectives shared by volunteers, to benefit community members, as well as volunteers themselves.

During the lockdown, social worker Melanie felt lucky to have a job, but still felt stressed by the pandemic. She thought about those less fortunate than her and worried about their wellbeing. It made her realize she wanted to make a difference.

“I figured I could either continue complaining about the fact that the pandemic continued to go on or I could make a change,” said Melanie. “So I did my research and learned about Yonge Street Mission, its work within the community, and the countless services it offers to community members. It aligned with what I was looking for, so I contacted them to make sure I could volunteer.”

It was a process, but during the course of it Melanie learned becoming a mentor to a youth entering university would help ensure their future success, and would be an ideal fit for her as well.

A few months later, she was matched with a mentee, with whom today she has an almost sisterly relationship – Melanie and her mentee talk about many things, including reading, playing sports, clothes, fashion, thrifting, the university experience, mental health challenges, and their experiences as Black women.

“I told her what I experienced at university, and I told her that often people think that we can’t get into that space, but once you’re in, you’ll notice how many different programs are specifically designed for us as Black women. A stigma continues to exist,” Melanie shared. “We spoke a lot about mental health and I emphasized that sometimes it’s okay to not be okay.”

For Melanie, the main goal was to build trust with her mentee. It has taken time for them to open up to each other, but the connection they made was invaluable. “I’ve learned so much from my mentee,” said Melanie. “Youth today are constantly changing with technology, so they’re giving you ideas older people wouldn’t give you. But when you speak to them, their minds keep going. It wakes you up and makes you motivated!”

In addition to adult-youth mentorship, YSM also provides a program for adults.

In 2022 recruitment of mentors became a top priority of YSM’s Volunteer Resources department, which carefully selects and trains volunteers to walk alongside community members as they work to overcome barriers related to poverty, and which can include addiction, lack of employment, limited education and more.

We are grateful to all our volunteers. YSM couldn’t do its work without the partnership and contributions of many.

“I’m very happy I found YSM. It’s great their staff always works hard to make our volunteer experience rewarding. But the greatest reward for me is the good feeling I have knowing what I do at YSM, big or small, goes directly to supporting people in need in my city.”

YSM Donors Give in Diverse Ways

Members of the Philanthropy team, and all of YSM’s staff, are grateful for Yonge Street Mission’s many donors and all the creative and generous ways they find to support our work.

For many YSM donors, the decision to support YSM is a personal one, made on an individual basis. For others, it is preset – those who grew up watching their parents’ concerted commitment to give back, choose to do likewise once they are financially independent adults.

Giving as a Family Affair

Mark Josephs has long known of Yonge Street Mission. Years ago he heard our former CEO Rick Tobias speak compellingly about Toronto poverty at his church. Additionally, his parents Leslie and Glenor Josephs made giving to YSM a priority decades ago and did so both personally as well as through their business, Kisko Products.

Kisko, a company well known for their many flavours of ‘freezies’ – sweet frozen flavoured water in tubes – enabled the Josephs to make both financial donations and gifts of product to YSM. Their habit of doing so goes all the way back to 1990, or at least that is as long as our records can reference.

Mark recalls that no matter how his family’s business was doing, giving was always a priority. As Christians, the Josephs believed that by giving, they are able to acknowledge the blessings they have received, and that, if able, all are called to give, whether a lot or a limited amount, and can do so either financially or by volunteering their time.

In remembering what inspired his parents to prioritize YSM in their giving, Mark referenced “to give is to be blessed to be able to support others”, and YSM was a natural choice due to the inspiring variety of programs which address so many needs of those in our city who are struggling or broken. Because we offer deep levels of holistic care, including spiritual development, today Mark and his wife give through a foundation they established, and his mother does likewise, via a foundation in her name and that of her late husband.

Mark and Shelley feel blessed to be able to advance YSM’s programs supporting those in need.

Giving as a Personal Legacy

Similar to Mark, Linda was also inspired to support YSM due to her understanding of how YSM works up close with struggling Toronto neighbours. She came to understand the unique challenges — mental, physical and spiritual — which so many in our city face in their daily efforts to rise out of poverty.

Linda believes deeply in YSM’s work as a bridge between crisis and stability for so many Toronto neighbours. She feels YSM connects her to parts of our community that far too often remain unseen and unheard. She shared “[YSM’s] work inspires and teaches me so much! I see the good that change can produce.”

YSM’s Legacy Partner

Advisors with Purpose is available to all YSM donors offering free professional, estate planning advice. Visit them at www.advisorswithpurpose.ca to develop an estate plan that is right for you and your family.

Those factors inspired Linda to leave a legacy gift to YSM. In her opinion, “Legacy giving doesn’t just help others. It moves us, too.” That’s why she has joined YSM’s recognition society for bequest donors, Legacy Bridge Builders. In her words, “Because that’s how each of us can help end chronic poverty in Toronto in one generation. Lasting change can start right now!”

When asked what she would tell other donors who might be considering including YSM in a bequest in their Will, she shared “The process for leaving a legacy gift to YSM is so easy! First, consult your lawyer or financial advisor to consider taking care of family you’ll be leaving behind, if that’s your plan, along with tax provisions and other matters. When I shared my decision with my family, they supported me fully. So now, my legacy will be about helping to take care of so many who have so little. It’s a decision that for me felt good right away!”

Thanks to Mark, the Josephs and Linda, and so many other dedicated donors, YSM will be here to meet the needs of all those experiencing poverty in our city, as long as we’re needed.

Linda’s legacy will be helping to build a bridge between crisis and stability for struggling Toronto neighbours.
